One Hundred Twenty-First Commencement
May Twenty-First, Nineteen Hundred Eighty-Two
Eighty-Thirty Friday Morning
The National Anthem

O, say! Can you see, by the dawn's early light,
what so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.

O, say, does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

J O S E P H D. M U R P H Y

This pencil drawing of Washington University's Brookings Hall, one of the Saint Louis community's most famous landmarks, is the work of Joseph D. Murphy. Mr. Murphy joined the faculty of Washington University's School of Architecture in 1935 and was a full-time member until 1952. During that period, he served from 1949 to 1952 as dean of the School of Architecture. He left academia to form the firm of Murphy and Mackey, Architects, with the late Eugene J. Mackey, a member of the University's School of Architecture faculty from 1941 to 1952. (Mr. Mackey subsequently served as a lecturer on hospital architecture for the graduate program in hospital administration, Washington University School of Medicine, from 1951 to 1968, when he died.) After losing his partner, Mr. Murphy, together with some of the younger members of the Murphy and Mackey organization, formed a new firm, Murphy, Downey, Wofford & Richman. Now retired as a practicing partner, Mr. Murphy resumed teaching part-time as an affiliate professor of architecture at the University in the spring of 1980. Earlier this year, he had a one-man exhibition of his watercolors, charcoal and pencil drawings at Saint Louis University's Cupples House Gallery.
A Brief History of Washington University

Founded in 1853, the University was located in downtown St. Louis for its first fifty years. Ground for a new site on the edge of the city was purchased in 1894 and in 1900 construction was begun on the first five buildings of a plan based upon the medieval courtyards of Oxford and Cambridge Colleges.

These first ivy covered Gothic buildings with their red granite walls, arches and gargoyles formed the quadrangle. Upon completion, these original buildings were leased to the 1904 World’s Fair. The lease money made it possible to begin construction of additional buildings and all were used for the Fair before the University moved in. The athletic stadium, Francis Field, was built to accommodate the 1904 Olympic games, presented in conjunction with the Fair.

Over the years, the original “Academic Gothic” architecture has been succeeded by a variety of eclectic styles, but certain key principles of the original plan were retained. Plazas and courtyards still reflect the original theme.

A Note on the Commencement Ceremony

Washington University and other American universities, public and private, follow the pattern of degree granting developed at the University of Paris, which was founded about 1100.

In the early days of the University of Paris the discipline of the student, and indeed their entire education fell under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Paris who was responsible for local educational matters. In an attempt to perform his office, the Bishop claimed supervision of curriculum and degree-granting. Here he ran into trouble from the teachers who felt they were the proper judges of the qualifications of their students. They demanded the right to grant the degree.

The modern commencement ceremony represents a compromise between the Bishop and the teaching masters. By 1200 the masters were judging the merits of the student and then recommending him to the Bishop who conferred the degree. The ceremony you will witness this morning is the successor to this medieval compromise. The Faculty sits on the platform in its role as teacher and examiner. Its leaders, the Deans, present the qualified candidates to the Chancellor, acting as executive officer of the Board. Today the Chancellor and the Board act, as did the medieval Bishop when, acting together, they grant accreditation upon the student’s completion of the Faculty’s requirements.
A Note on Academic Dress

The academic dress worn by Faculty and candidates indicates the degree held, the subject in which it is held, and the institution granting it. Gowns are of three kinds: the Bachelor's with full, pointed sleeves, hanging open; the Master's with flowing sleeves which hang below the opening at the wrist; the Doctor's with very full sleeves gathered at the wrist. The gowns are black, although occasionally trimmed with colored velvet; the hoods, on the other hand, are of many colors. The color of the lining of the hood indicates the institution granting the degree: e.g., the hood of Washington University is lined with red and green. The color of the tassel on the cap and of the velvet edging of the hood, carried forward around the throat, indicates the division of the university:

- White—Arts, Letters, Humanities
- Orange—Engineering
- Lilac—Dentistry
- Silver Beige—Business
- Dark Blue—Philosophy
- Brown—Fine Arts, Architecture, Interior Design
- Golden Yellow—Science
- Purple—Law
- Green—Medicine
- Pink—Music
- Citron—Social Work
- Light Blue—Education

Gold tassels and black tassels, when worn, indicate degree rather than faculty or major department. Thus gold indicates the Ph.D. degree and black indicates the Master's degree.

Academic dress markedly different from the above description indicates a degree from a foreign university.

Banners

In addition to the coloring present in the academic dress, the division is also represented on the University's Commencement banners. These banners are carried by a student marshal at the head of the procession for their division. They were designed by Louis Miksicek, a graduate of Washington University's Fine Arts School, in 1974, and custom-made by a St. Louis firm. You will note that the lower section of the banner is red and green, the University's colors, and that the upper section, which bears the seal of the University, is the color of the academic division.

DOCTOR OF ARTS

WILLIAM HENRY MAULDIN, editorial cartoonist and author, is a member of the Chicago Sun Times staff whose work is syndicated in 250 national newspapers. A perceptive observer and gifted artist, he has earned international recognition for his cartoons, whose distinctive style distinguishes them as unmistakably "by Bill Mauldin." Trenchant, witty, sometimes poignant, and frequently satirical, they are an apt commentary on the lifestyle and values of this century which W. H. Auden has accurately described as "The Age of Anxiety." Mr. Mauldin sold his first cartoon only nine years after he was born on a farm in New Mexico, and he has been drawing ever since. During World War II, he created a pair of bedraggled, befuddled GIs, Willie and Joe, who were as famous in their day as the brash characters of this decade's movie and television series, M*A*S*H. Their foibles brought Bill Mauldin his first Pulitzer Prize in 1945. Mr. Mauldin received another Pulitzer Prize in 1959 for an unforgettable cartoon of the late Boris Pasternak, the celebrated Russian man-of-letters. He was a member of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch staff at that time, having been employed there as an editorial cartoonist from 1958 to 1962. The National Cartoonist Society cited Mr. Mauldin in 1959 for the best editorial cartoon of that year, and conferred the Reuben, its top award of 1962, on him. He has been honored frequently, also, by Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists, which elected him and Walter Cronkite, Fellows in 1970. The author of thirteen books, Bill Mauldin's Up Front was on the national nonfiction best seller list for two years. Although he never finished high school, Mr. Mauldin has received six honorary degrees, and was invited to conduct seminars at Yale University in 1974 and 1975.

DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

PAUL OSKAR KRISTELLER, scholar and educator, is Frederick J. E. Woodbridge Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at Columbia University. A man of prodigious learning, he is revered throughout the scholarly world for the extraordinary breadth of his intellect. On the publication of his Renaissance Thought and Its Sources in 1979, the Times Literary Supplement observed: "Paul Oskar Kristeller is responsible for establishing Renaissance philosophy as a particular field of enquiry... one can say without fear of contradiction that the influence exerted by Kristeller on the philosophico-intellectual side of Renaissance studies has been greater than any of his contemporaries." He has been publishing for over fifty years. Born in Berlin, he earned doctorates at the Universities of Heidelberg (1928) and Pisa (1937). Forced by Nazi persecution to flee from Germany and Italy, he came to the United States in 1939. After a brief stay at Yale University, he moved to Columbia University where he has taught throughout his American career. It is remarkable that after his seventieth birthday, "P.O.K.," as he is known to his fellow scholars, received four collections of essays written in his honor. One of these includes a biography, a record of his awards and honorary degrees, a bibliography of his more than two hundred publications (to 1974), and a felicitous tribute by another of Columbia University's great historians of philosophy, John Herman Randall, Jr. Randall wrote: "He is a living witness to the creative fruits when the best German and the best American thought and scholarship find happy and fruitful union."
ANDREW FELTON BRIMMER, economist, educator and administrator, is president of Brimmer & Company, Incorporated, Washington, D.C., economic and financial consultants, which he founded in July 1976. Since beginning his career as an economist with the Wage Stabilization Board, Seattle, Washington in 1952, he has held various important positions in the public and private sectors as well as in academia. Appointed to the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System by President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966, he resigned after eight and one-half years to serve for almost two years as Thomas Henry Carroll Visiting Professor at the Harvard University Graduate School of Business. While there, he recommended measures to President Gerald R. Ford which resulted in federal legislation that helped to end a severe recession. Currently, Dr. Brimmer is public governor and vice-chairman of the Commodity Exchange, Incorporated, New York City; director of two banks and four firms; senior advisor to two corporations; and consultant to four organizations. Having served in the United States Army from May 1945 to November 1946 (achieving the rank of acting first sergeant), he earned the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Washington in 1950 and 1951, respectively. Dr. Brimmer was a Fulbright Fellow in India at the Universities of Delhi and Bombay, and earned the doctoral degree in economics at Harvard University in 1957. He has achieved widespread recognition for his publications and accomplishments and was named Alumnus Summa Laude Dignatus for 1972 by the University of Washington Alumni Association. Dr. Brimmer is the recipient of sixteen honorary degrees.

MORTON DAVID MAY, business executive, civic leader, philanthropist, and patron of the arts, recently retired after forty-one years as a member of the board of directors of The May Department Stores Company. Having served successively as vice-president, president, chief executive officer and chairman of its board, he will become a director emeritus in June. Mr. May’s name is synonymous with the sustenance and enrichment of the quality of life in our society, and this commitment has led to his support of a variety of organizations dedicated to this cause. In recognition of his service, he received the 1959 St. Louis Globe-Democrat “Man of the Year” Award, the Levee Stone Award in 1974 from Downtown St. Louis Incorporated, and The Distinguished Service to the Arts Award from The Saint Louis Conservatory and Schools for the Arts (CASA) last year. A faithful and dedicated benefactor of Washington University, he became a member of its board of trustees in 1958, and a life trustee in 1975. Mr. May was president of Washington University’s William Greenleaf Eliot Society for eleven years, and received its prestigious award in 1976 “for his close and warm involvement with this institution.” More recently, he was a member of the Architecture, Fine Arts, Gallery of Art Task Force of the Commission on the Future of Washington University. A talented painter, he is also an accomplished photographer who has had major exhibitions here and elsewhere. Mr. May is also an avid art collector who was honored by the Federal Republic of Germany for exhibiting his vast collection of German Expressionist paintings throughout the world. He earned the Bachelor of Arts degree from Dartmouth College in 1936, and, after serving with the United States Navy during World War II, was discharged with the rank of lieutenant commander. He is the recipient of three honorary degrees.
DOCTOR OF LAWS

ARJAY MILLER, educator and business advisor, is dean emeritus of the Stanford University Graduate School of Business and a former president of one of this nation's giant motor companies. While serving from 1943 to 1946 in the United States of America Air Forces (USAAF), he was promoted from private to captain. Mr. Miller began his twenty-three years with the Ford Motor Company in 1946, and was president of this firm from 1963 to 1968. Subsequently, he spent ten years as dean and professor of management of the Stanford University Graduate School of Business. Mr. Miller serves on the boards of directors of eight firms, and is a trustee of numerous organizations, including the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and the Brookings Institution. He is a councillor of The Conference Board, a member of the Trilateral Commission and of The Economic Policy Council of the United Nations Association. Last month, he delivered The Fifth Annual David R. Calhoun, Jr. Memorial Lecture at this University. He received the Alumnus of the Year Award from the University of California, Los Angeles, in 1964 which also gave him an honorary degree. In 1968, he was presented with both the Distinguished Nebraskan and the B'nai Brith National Industry Leader awards. Mr. Miller earned the Bachelor of Science degree with highest honors from the University of California, Los Angeles, in 1937, and was a graduate student and teaching fellow at the University of California, Berkeley, for three years. He also holds honorary degrees from the University of Nebraska, Whitman College and Ripon College.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

GODFREY NEWBOLD HOUNSFIELD, British scientist, inventor and Nobel laureate, is Commander of the (order of) the British Empire (CBE) and a Fellow of the Royal Society (FRS). Following World War II service in the Royal Air Force (RAF), he earned a diploma from Faraday House Electrical Engineering College, London, in 1951 and joined EMI Limited where he has been senior staff scientist, Central Research Laboratories, since 1977. Sir Godfrey Hounsfield was awarded the Nobel Prize in physiology or medicine in 1979 for inventing the EMI-scanner computed tomography (CT) system. It revolutionized the practice of radiology by producing a detailed x-ray picture of a selected section of the brain and later the body. He shared the Nobel Prize with Allan Cormack of this country, who, during the sixties, did fundamental work in this field. Evaluating this research, Ronald G. Evens, M.D., Elizabeth E. Mallinckrodt Professor of Radiology, and director, The Edward Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology, Washington University School of Medicine, which pioneered in clinical applications of this "hardware," has stressed in a book he will publish soon "that a combination of an inventive scientist (Sir Godfrey Hounsfield) and a technology-oriented corporation (EMI Limited) without the biases of standard radiology, was necessary for CT development." Sir Godfrey Hounsfield continues to work on research concerned with advancing CT technology and is also focusing his attention on related fields of diagnostic imaging, such as nuclear magnetic resonance. For his genius as the originator of CT imaging, Sir Godfrey Hounsfield has been internationally lauded with a plethora of other awards, prizes and honorary degrees.
LEE HUNTER, executive and inventor, is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Hunter Engineering Company, Bridgeton, Missouri. A native St. Louisan, he began his career as a draftsman-designer for the Herman Body Company in 1935, and a year later founded Lee Hunter, Jr. Manufacturing Company. He was president of the Hunter-Hartman Corporation from 1937 to 1942. During World War II, he served with the United States Army and was discharged with the rank of first lieutenant. He served as president of Hunter Engineering Company from 1947 to 1955, when he assumed his present title. Mr. Hunter holds a number of American and foreign patents. He is the inventor of balancing and alignment equipment used by some of the world's largest automotive manufacturers, and recently introduced revolutionary computerized microprocessing systems to the domestic and international marketplace. The Hunter Engineering Company supplies all of the major United States oil and tire companies and mass merchandisers, as well as foreign distributors in over sixty countries. Mr. Hunter is an advisory director of St. Louis County National Bank and County National Bancorporation, and is a member of the boards of directors of Junior Achievement and the West County YMCA. Since 1977, he has been Honorary Consul of Belgium in St. Louis, and is a member of the Saint Louis Consular Corps. Mr. Hunter is a trustee of Westminster College, which he attended, and received its Alumni Achievement Award in 1972. He also studied at Washington University and recently served as a member of the School of Engineering Task Force of the Commission on the Future of Washington University.

RITA LEVI-MONTALCINI, scientist, educator and scholar, is professor emeritus of biology at Washington University and former director of the Laboratory of Cell Biology in Rome. A distinguished neurobiologist, she is the co-discoverer of a protein particle which produces dramatic growth in sympathetic nerve cells. Known as the nerve growth factor, or NGF, it has opened up new areas of research throughout the world. Dr. Levi-Montalcini arrived at Washington University in October 1947 and was an active member of its faculty until 1977 when she was granted emeritus status. Between 1963 and 1977 she divided her time between this campus and Rome. She served from 1969 to 1979 as director of the Laboratory of Cell Biology in the Eternal City, and now resides permanently in her native country, Italy, where she continues to pursue her research. Dr. Levi-Montalcini was elected to the National Academy of Sciences in this country in 1968, and in 1974, she became the first woman to be installed in the Pontifical Scientific Academy in ceremonies at Vatican City. She is the recipient of numerous honors including the National United Cerebral Palsy Association's Max Weinstein Award; the Claude Bernard Medal of the University of Montreal; election to the Harvey Society of New York City; the International Feltrinelli Award; the William Thomson Wakeman Award, which she shared with the co-discoverer of NGF, Professor Stanley Cohen (now of Vanderbilt University); election to the Academia Nazionale Deli Lincei; the International St. Vincent Prize for Medical Science; and the Lewis S. Rosenstiel Medallion from Brandeis University, which she shared with Dr. Cohen and Professor Gordon H. Sato of the University of California, San Diego. Dr. Levi-Montalcini earned the medical degree at the University of Turin in 1936, where she pursued post-graduate studies in neurology and psychiatry. She has been awarded three honorary degrees.

THE ALMA MATER

Dear Alma Mater, Thy name is sweet to me.
Those days of youth which All of us spent with thee

Our hearts are all for thee Fair Washington.
Form a dear history, Fair Washington.

Thy halls shall honored be Through-out this great country
Could they renewed be, We'd live our days with thee

For all eternity, Our Washington.
For all eternity, Our Washington.
