WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

One Hundred Twenty-Seventh Commencement

May Twentieth

Nineteen Hundred Eighty-Eight

Eight-Thirty Friday Morning
A Brief History of Washington University

Founded in 1853, the University was located in downtown St. Louis for its first fifty years. Ground for a new site on the edge of the city was purchased in 1894 and in 1900 construction was begun on the first five buildings of a plan based upon the medieval courtyards of Oxford and Cambridge Colleges.

These first ivy covered Gothic buildings with their red granite walls, arches and gargoyles formed the quadrangle. Upon completion, these original buildings were leased to the 1904 World's Fair. The lease money made it possible to begin construction of additional buildings and all were used for the Fair before the University moved in. The athletic stadium, Francis Field, was built to accommodate the 1904 Olympic games, presented in conjunction with the Fair.

Over the years, the original "Academic Gothic" architecture has been succeeded by a variety of eclectic styles, but certain key principles of the original plan were retained. Plazas and courtyards still reflect the original theme.

A Note on the Commencement Ceremony

Washington University and other American universities, public and private, follow the pattern of degree granting developed at the University of Paris, which was founded about 1100.

In the early days of the University of Paris the discipline of the students, and indeed their entire education fell under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Paris who was responsible for local educational matters. In an attempt to perform his office, the Bishop claimed supervision of curriculum and degree-granting. Here he ran into trouble from the teachers who felt they were the proper judges of the qualifications of their students. They demanded the right to grant the degree.

The modern commencement ceremony represents a compromise between the Bishop and the teaching masters. By 1200 the masters were judging the merits of the student and then recommending him to the Bishop who conferred the degree. The ceremony you will witness this morning is the successor to this medieval compromise. The Faculty sits on the platform in its role as teacher and examiner. Its leaders, the Deans, present the qualified candidates to the Chancellor, acting as executive officer of the Board. Today the Chancellor and the Board act, as did the medieval Bishop when, acting together, they grant accreditation upon the student's completion of the Faculty's requirements.
A Note on Academic Dress

The academic dress worn by Faculty and candidates indicates the degree held, the subject in which it is held, and the institution granting it. Gowns are of three kinds: the Bachelor's with full, pointed sleeves, hanging open; the Master's with flowing sleeves which hang below the opening at the wrist; the Doctor's with very full sleeves gathered at the wrist. The gowns are black, although occasionally trimmed with colored velvet. The hoods, on the other hand, are of many colors. The color of the lining of the hood indicates the institution granting the degree: e.g., the hood of Washington University is lined with red and green. The color of the tassel on the cap and of the velvet edging of the hood, carried forward around the throat, indicates the division of the university.

- White—Arts, Letters, Humanities
- Dark Blue—Philosophy
- Golden Yellow—Science
- Orange—Engineering
- Gray—Technology
- Blue Violet—Architecture
- Silver Beige—Business
- Brown—Fine Arts
- Citron—Social Work
- Purple—Law
- Lilac—Dentistry
- Green—Medicine

Academic dress markedly different from the above description indicates a degree from a foreign university.

Banners

In addition to the coloring present in the academic dress, the division is also represented on the University’s Commencement banners. These banners are carried by a student marshal at the head of the procession for their division. You will note that the side sections of the banners are red and green, the University’s colors, and that the center section, which bears the seal of the University, is the color of the academic division.

Emeritus Appointments

Each year some members of the Washington University faculty reach the rank of emeritus. Their ability and service, in the classroom and out, has enriched the University and the lives of their students and colleagues. In appreciation for what they have done, we record here the names of those who attain emeritus rank by the end of the academic year 1987-1988.

HONORARY DEGREES

BERNARD BAILYN

DOCTOR OF LETTERS
Bernard Bailyn, Adams University Professor at Harvard University and director of the Charles Warren Center for Studies in American History, is a Pulitzer Prize-winning author. His books focus on the history of the colonies, the American Revolution and the Anglo-American world in the preindustrial era. In 1968, he received the Pulitzer and Bancroft Prizes for his book The Ideological Origins of the American Revolution. He received the Pulitzer Prize in history and the Saloutos Award of the Immigration History Society for his 1986 book titled Voyagers to the West. He also has written several other books, including The Ordeal of Thomas Hutchinson, for which he won the National Book Award in history. He is editor of Pamphlets of the American Revolution, of which the first volume, published in 1965, was awarded the Faculty Prize of the Harvard University Press for that year. The Hartford, Conn., native has served as editor in chief of the John Harvard Library and is co-editor of the journal Perspectives in American History. Dr. Bailyn has taught at Harvard since 1949, and became director of the Charles Warren Center for Studies in American History in 1983. He was the 1985 Lewin Distinguished Visiting Professor in the Humanities at Washington University. In that role, he presented a series of three lectures on “The Peopling of British North America.” Dr. Bailyn is a member of the American Historical Association and served as its president in 1981. His other professional memberships include the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Philosophical Society, the National Academy of Education, the Royal Historical Society, and the Mexican Academy of History and Geography. He received his bachelor’s degree from Williams College in 1945, and a master’s degree (1947) and doctorate (1953) from Harvard. He was the first recipient of the Robert H. Lord Award of Emmanuel College, and was Trevelyan Lecturer and Pitt Professor of American History at Cambridge University.

CARROLL DEAN HENRY BEHRHORST

DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES
One of Carroll Behrhorst’s favorite maxims is “the man who does not plan ways of doing himself out of a job is not doing his job.” By all accounts, Dr. Behrhorst does his job very well. Since 1962, the foundation that bears his name has not only provided health care to almost 250,000 people in Guatemala’s poverty-stricken highlands, but has established a training program that allows Indians to run health, agriculture and water projects without outside assistance. The Behrhorst Development Foundation, which began as a one-room, one-man clinic, has achieved worldwide renown as a model for rural health care. After receiving his bachelor’s degree at Washington University in 1943, Dr. Behrhorst entered the University’s medical school, graduating in 1947. From 1951-58, he operated a family practice in Winfield, Kansas. When he learned that physicians were needed in Guatemala, Dr. Behrhorst made several trips to that country. Shortly thereafter, he closed his Kansas practice and moved his family to Chimaltenango, a town of 200,000 in Guatemala’s highlands. The Behrhorst Clinic opened its doors in 1962. What began as a clinic quickly grew in scope. Dr. Behrhorst found that merely curing the sick was not enough. His patients would go home, only to return weeks later afflicted with the same illnesses. Realizing that he must break the cycle of disease by attacking its causes, and that raising living standards would ultimately improve health, Dr. Behrhorst established a “health promoters” program that provided extensive health training to members of surrounding villages. The health provider program grew to include training in nutrition, agriculture, child care and family planning. One of the most ambitious undertakings was to provide supplies of clean, safe drinking water to dozens of villages through a system of pipes and storage tanks. Throughout the clinic’s history, Dr. Behrhorst has worked to ensure that local labor, technology and traditions fuel the outreach programs. In 1980, to reflect its expanded scope, the Behrhorst clinic changed its name to the Behrhorst Development Foundation. Since 1982, Dr. Behrhorst has spent nine months of each year in New Orleans, where he is an adjunct assistant professor at Tulane University’s School of Public Health and Tropical Medicine.
DOCTOR OF LAWS

Educator Marva N. Collins has been dubbed "Marvelous Marva" and the "Miracle Worker." After teaching in Chicago's public school system for 14 years, Mrs. Collins resigned in 1975, frustrated with a bureaucracy that was failing to teach children. With $5,000 from a pension fund, she converted the top floor of her home in Chicago's inner city to a one-room schoolhouse, which she named Westside Preparatory School. After visiting the private school, Washington Post columnist William Raspberry wrote that Mrs. Collins "has proved wrong all the public school teachers and principals who say poor black children in crowded city neighborhoods can't be expected to learn. Collins dismantled all the excuses for public school failures by taking in 18 children the Chicago public schools had discarded as being retarded, troublesome and truant and bringing them above national test standards in reading and math. And she did it with no public money." Mrs. Collins has said that "People entering our school are shocked to see three- and four-year-olds reading and reciting Shakespeare, quoting from Socrates, or performing plays by Euripides; it is not something that they expect, especially from so-called 'inner city children.' But our children learn that the slum does not exist inside them, and that they must work harder than they ever have, within our school walls, in order to combat the influence of the decadence outside." Mrs. Collins' devotion to her students and her success in teaching them has attracted national attention. She was the subject of a made-for-TV movie starring Cicely Tyson. She's been featured on CBS's 60 Minutes, the Phil Donahue Show and many other television programs. Numerous articles about her have appeared in magazines and newspapers. President Reagan offered her the Secretary of Education post, which she declined. School administrators and teachers from around the world have visited Westside Preparatory, which has expanded and moved from its original site to two buildings three blocks away. A graduate of Clark College in Atlanta, Mrs. Collins has written a book, titled Marva Collins' Way, and has founded the National Teacher-Training Institute in Chicago.

THOMAS FRANCIS EAGLETON

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Former U.S. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has achieved a high degree of popular appeal. After graduating cum laude from Harvard Law School in 1953, Mr. Eagleton returned to his native St. Louis, where he began a long and successful career in public office. In 1956, he was elected Circuit Attorney of St. Louis. Terms as Missouri's Attorney General (1961-65) and Lieutenant Governor (1965-69) followed. In 1969, Mr. Eagleton was elected to the first of three consecutive terms to the United States Senate. During his 18-year tenure in the Senate, the Democrat from Missouri served on several committees. He was Ranking Minority Member of the Senate Committee on Government Affairs, served on the Foreign Relations Committee and was a member of the Committee on Intelligence. Mr. Eagleton also sponsored several key pieces of legislation. In 1973, he authored an amendment to halt the bombing in Cambodia, which was instrumental in bringing an eventual end to American intervention in Southeast Asia. Mr. Eagleton was one of the principal authors of the War Powers Resolution, which reasserted the constitutional authority of the Congress as the only branch of government that can declare war, and he was involved in shaping the Clean Water Act of 1971 and the Clean Air Act of 1972. In 1982, he took a stand to oppose tobacco subsidies. He also has worked for the preservation of former President Harry S. Truman's home, to revitalize the downtown area in Kansas City and to promote agricultural research at land-grant colleges and universities throughout the United States. Mr. Eagleton's awards and honors include the American Jewish Congress Democracy in Action Award (1974), the Harry S. Truman Good Neighbor Award (1974), the Leon Jordan Memorial Award (1977), the Black Economic Union Leadership Award (1978) and the National Council of Senior Citizens Special Award (1980). In a tribute to Sen. Eagleton at the end of his 18-year congressional career, Sen. John C. Danforth rose on the Senate floor to praise his colleague from Missouri. "What has set Tom Eagleton apart from the rest of us," Danforth said, "is not his intellect and his energy, impressive as they are. It is his moral passion, his capacity for outrage, his insistence that justice be done, that wrongs be made right." Upon leaving the Senate at end of his third term, Eagleton joined Washington University as University Professor of Public Affairs. His popular appeal continues unabated: disappointed students are regularly turned away in droves from the senator's classes.
ROBERT JOY GLASER

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

A leader in medical education, Robert J. Glaser is director for medical science at Lucille P. Markey Charitable Trust in Menlo Park, Calif. He has published more than 100 papers on medical education, health care, rheumatic fever and streptococcal infections. Dr. Glaser, who served eight years on the Washington University Board of Trustees, recently was re-elected for an additional term. He has held several major positions at the School of Medicine, including associate dean, associate professor, chief of the rheumatic fever clinic, chief of the immunology division and National Research Council Fellow. After graduating magna cum laude from Harvard Medical School, he trained in internal medicine at Washington and Harvard universities. Dr. Glaser, who also received a bachelor's degree from Harvard College, is the recipient of the Abraham Flexner Award of the Association of American Medical Colleges for Distinguished Service to Medical Education; the Hubert H. Humphrey Cancer Research Center Award; and the Harvard Club of San Francisco Distinguished Citizen Award for Outstanding Leadership of Medical Education and Research. In 1986, the Robert J. Glaser Award was established by the Society for Research and Education in Primary Care Internal Medicine. Former dean of the University of Colorado and Stanford medical schools, Dr. Glaser was a member of the Sloan Commission on Government and Higher Education. His professional affiliations include the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, founding member of the Institute of Medicine—National Academy of Sciences, master of the American College of Physicians, and the Association of American Physicians. Since 1962, Dr. Glaser has served as editor of The Pharos, the journal of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society, of which he is a member. He is a board of directors member of Hewlett-Packard Co., California Water Service Co., First Boston Inc., and Alza Corp. He is married to Dr. Helen Hofsommer Glaser, a 1947 graduate of the Washington University medical school. Both her parents and her brother also graduated from the University's School of Medicine.

JACK LEONARD STROMINGER

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Described by a colleague as a “world-class person” in his field, Jack L. Strominger is well known by many others in the scientific world as one of the top biochemists in the country. His early studies of complex nucleotides led to a 25-year investigation of the action mechanism of penicillin and the structure and biosynthesis of cell walls—a field that he dominated from beginning to end. This work in turn brought him some 12 years ago into the field of transplantation antigens, which together make up the complex that is responsible for the rejection of organ transplants. He has been particularly successful in working out the detailed structure of this antigens complex and its positioning in the cell membrane. He also has succeeded in identifying the portion of these antigens responsible for inducing the rejection antibodies. The author of more than 600 articles, Dr. Strominger received his bachelor's degree from Harvard University in 1947 and his medical degree from Yale in 1948. He began his long association with Washington University in 1948 when he interned at Barnes Hospital, a sponsoring institution of the Washington University School of Medicine. After working as a research fellow and research assistant in the Department of Pharmacology at the Washington University School of Medicine, he served as senior assistant surgeon from 1951-54 at the United States Public Health Service at the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases at Bethesda, Maryland. Dr. Strominger rejoined Washington University's faculty in 1955 as the Markle Scholar in Medical Science and he eventually rose to the position of professor of pharmacology and microbiology. He left Washington University in 1964 to become a professor in pharmacology and chemical microbiology at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, where he also served as chairman of the Department of Pharmacology. In 1968 Dr. Strominger was named a professor of biochemistry at Harvard, where he since has held several distinguished positions, including chairman of the biochemistry and molecular biology department from 1970-73 and director of basic sciences from 1974-77 at what is now called the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. He currently is the Higgins Professor of Biochemistry at Harvard and is a member of the National Institute of Medicine, the National Academy of Sciences and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.
DOCTOR OF LETTERS

Pulitzer Prize- and Tony Award-winning August Wilson is considered one of America's outstanding playwrights. He has two plays running on Broadway, which Newsweek magazine says is an unprecedented feat for a black playwright. "Fences," which opened on Broadway in the spring of 1987, entered the record books as the first play in 30 years to capture all of the major theatrical awards—including the 1987 Pulitzer Prize for Drama, Tony Award for Best Play, Tony Award for Best Director, and awards from the New York Drama Critics Circle, Drama Desk, Outer Critics Circle and American Theatre Critics Association for Best Play. "Fences," as well as Mr. Wilson's other Broadway play, "Joe Turner's Come and Gone," is part of his cycle of plays that treats the experience of black Americans through each decade of the 20th century. Set in the 1950s, "Fences" examines the simmering racial tensions that erupted in the 1960s. Mr. Wilson is writing the screenplay for the movie version of "Fences," which Eddie Murphy will star in and co-produce. Mr. Wilson, who moved from his native Pittsburgh to Minneapolis, began writing plays in affiliation with that city's Playwrights Center. His first play, "Jitney," was submitted to the Eugene O'Neill Theater Center in Waterford, Conn., and was rejected. After five rejections, they accepted his "Ma Rainey's Black Bottom." The following year, "Ma Rainey's" was given its first full production at the Yale Repertory Theatre. It was at this time that Mr. Wilson began his strong association with Lloyd Richards, artistic director of the Yale Repertory and dean of the Yale Drama School. Directed by Richards, Mr. Wilson's "Ma Rainey's" opened on Broadway in 1984 to critical acclaim and won the New York Drama Critics Circle Award. Richards, in explaining what first attracted him to Mr. Wilson's work, says, "It was the voice that drew me. By that I mean that the characters leaped off the page . . . The poetry, the cadence, and the music of these people's speech patterns were all there in that first draft of 'Ma Rainey.' It was then that I knew that this was an authentic voice, one that was speaking about real people and real conditions." "The Piano Lesson," which completed its run at the Yale Repertory late last year, is Wilson's fourth collaboration with director Richards. Mr. Wilson is the recipient of several fellowships, including Rockefeller and Guggenheim Fellowships in Playwriting, and the Whiting Writers Award. He is a member of New Dramatists in New York.

THE ALMA MATER

Dear Alma Mater, Thy name is sweet to me.
Those days of youth which All of us spent with thee

Our hearts are all for thee Fair Washington.
Form a dear history, Fair Washington.

Thy halls shall honored be Through-out this great country
Could they re-new-ed be, We'd live our days with thee

For all eternity, Our Washington.
For all eternity, Our Washington.
