COMMENCEMENT
WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1853, the University was located in downtown St. Louis for its first fifty years. Ground for a new site on the edge of the city was purchased in 1894 and in 1900 construction was begun on the first five buildings of a plan based upon the medieval courtyards of Oxford and Cambridge Colleges.

These first ivy covered Gothic buildings with their red granite walls, arches and gargoyles formed the quadrangle. Upon completion, these original buildings were leased to the 1904 World's Fair. The lease money made it possible to begin construction of additional buildings and all were used for the Fair before the University moved in. The athletic stadium, Francis Field, was built to accommodate the 1904 Olympic games, presented in conjunction with the Fair.

Over the years, the original “Academic Gothic” architecture has been succeeded by a variety of eclectic styles, but certain key principles of the original plan were retained. Plazas and courtyards still reflect the original theme.

THE COMMENCEMENT CEREMONY

Washington University and other American universities, public and private, follow the pattern of degree granting developed at the University of Paris, which was founded about 1100.

In the early days of the University of Paris the discipline of the students, and indeed their entire education fell under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Paris who was responsible for local educational matters. In an attempt to perform his office, the Bishop claimed supervision of curriculum and degree-granting. Here he ran into trouble from the teachers who felt they were the proper judges of the qualifications of their students. They demanded the right to grant the degree.

The modern commencement ceremony represents a compromise between the Bishop and the teaching masters. By 1200 the masters were judging the merits of the student and then recommending him to the Bishop who conferred the degree. The ceremony you will witness this morning is the successor to this medieval compromise. The Faculty sits on the platform in its role as teacher and examiner. Its leaders, the Deans, present the qualified candidates to the Chancellor. Acting upon the recommendation of the Faculty, the Chancellor, as executive officer of the Board of Trustees, formally confers the appropriate degree.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The academic dress worn by Faculty and candidates have their origins in the clerical robes worn by the students and teachers at the earliest medieval universities. American colleges and universities adopted a code of academic dress in 1895 that included regulating the cut and style of the gowns and prescribing colors to represent the different fields of learning. The code, which has since been updated and revised, is recommended for use by U.S. colleges and universities. The design of caps and gowns is determined by the following:

Level of degree earned (bachelor’s, master’s or doctor’s): This is reflected in the design of the basic black gown—how full it is, whether or not it has trim on the sleeves, and the design of the sleeves, either pointed or rounded. The gown for the bachelor’s degree, which is designed to be worn open or closed, has pointed sleeves. The gown for the master’s degree, which can be worn open or closed, has an oblong sleeve. The doctor’s degree gown can be worn open or closed and has bell-shaped sleeves. Bachelor’s and master’s degree gowns are untrimmed. The gown for the doctor’s degree is faced down the front with black velvet and three bars of velvet across the sleeves. The color of the facings and crossbars may reflect the distinctive color of the discipline to which the degree pertains.

Institution granting the degree: Some institutions use their school colors—rather than basic black—for the gowns. The institution also is reflected in the hoods. The backs of the hoods are lined with silk showing the colors of the institution granting the degree, or the institution with which the wearer is connected. Washington University’s hood is lined with red and green, the school’s official colors. The color of the tassel on the cap and of the velvet edging of the hood, carried forward around the throat, indicates the division of the university.

Title of degree: This is reflected by the color of the trim on the front of the hood. Examples would be:
- White—Arts, Letters, Humanities; Silver Beige—Business
- Light Blue—Education; Brown—Art; Dark Blue—Philosophy
- Citron—Social Work; Golden Yellow—Science
- Purple—Law; Orange—Engineering; Green—Medicine
- Blue Violet—Architecture

BANNERS

In addition to the coloring present in the academic dress, the division is also represented on the University’s Commencement banners. These banners are carried by a student marshal at the head of the procession for their division. You will note that the side sections of the banners are red and green, the University’s colors, and that the center section, which bears the seal of the University, is the

THE QUADRANGLE

The site of the University Commencement Ceremony each spring, the Quadrangle is surrounded by the University’s four oldest buildings: Brokings Hall to the east, Ridgley Hall to the west, Cupples Hall I to the north and Busch Hall to the south. All four buildings were used by the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company during the 1904 World’s Fair. The outdoor stage was added in 1965 and named after Louis D. Beaumont, founder of the May Department Store Company.

The Quadrangle contains a number of commemorative plaques and inscriptions. As you walk up the main steps leading to the archway separating North and South Brokings Hall, two inscriptions on the east facade recognize the University’s original founding in 1853 as Eliot Seminary and its re-christening as Washington University in 1857. The Latin inscription above the archway reads: Discere et Sapere (If you desire to learn, enter: We bid you welcome).

The plaque embedded in the ground beneath the Brokings Hall archway honors Washington University’s founder and first Chancellor William Greenleaf Eliot. The plaque was given to the University during the centennial celebrations in 1953 by the First Unitarian Church of St. Louis. Finally, on the west facade of Brokings Hall above the clock the Latin inscription reads: Cedunt Horae, Opera Manent ("The hours go by, but the works remain").

UNIVERSITY SEAL

The University seal (on the cover) was developed by Holmes Smith, Professor of Drawing and History of Art, 1896, using elements from the coat of arms of George Washington (after whom the University was named) and fleur de lis, the symbol of King Louis IX (patron and namesake of St. Louis). The seal was officially adopted by the Board of Trustees in March 1897. The University’s motto, which appears inside an open book in the middle of the University seal, is Per Veritatem Vis, “Strength through Truth.” The motto was adopted in 1915. The current version of the University seal was created in the mid-1980s when the University’s logotype was developed, incorporating many of the same elements.

CEREMONIAL, COMMENCEMENT AND STUDENT MARSHALS

Ceremonial Marshals are charged with the responsibility of hooding Student Marshals during the commencement exercises when degrees are conferred to each division. Commencement Marshals lead each division during the opening commencement procession. Student Marshals are selected by the deans of each division to represent the student body of their division. The Student Marshals carry the divisional banners and signs during the procession.

HONORARY GRAND MARSHAL

Gordon W. Philpott, M.D.

Gordon W. Philpott, M.D., Honorary Grand Marshal for the 2000 graduation ceremony at Washington University, is an emeritus professor of surgery and of radiology at the School of Medicine. The cancer surgeon is highly regarded for his interest in issues related to patient care and physician education and for his active support of the University and the School of Medicine. Before retiring in July 1999, Dr. Philpott devoted himself to developing the Breast Health Center at Barnes-Jewish Hospital.

His surgical expertise is in breast cancer, which became his treatment focus in recent years. In addition, Dr. Philpott has studied the ability of radioactively labeled antibodies to detect and destroy colon cancer cells. This work holds promise of providing doctors with a more specific way to target colon cancer, assess patients' disease status and eventually treat colon cancer.

Dr. Philpott and his family, who are native St. Louisans, established an endowment at the medical school to provide a student with full tuition. They have pledged the funds to complete the scholarship, which was started by his mother, the late Drue Wilson Philpott. He and his family also established two challenge programs to encourage alumni and others to support the medical school.

Dr. Philpott has been an active member of the Medical Center Alumni Association and previously served as a co-chair of the School of Medicine Eliot Society. His honors include a 1996 Alumni/Faculty Award, a Barnes-Jewish Hospital Foundation Fellows Award in 1999 and membership in the Alpha Omega Alpha Society since 1961.

A fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Philpott also has been a member of numerous medical societies. These include the St. Louis Surgical Society, the American Society of Clinical Oncology, the Society of Surgical Oncology and the Society of University Surgeons.

Dr. Philpott attended the School of Medicine, from which he graduated cum laude in 1961. He began teaching at the medical school as soon as he completed a surgical internship and surgical residency at Barnes Hospital, joining the faculty as an instructor in surgery in 1968. Dr. Philpott served as assistant dean for curriculum from 1974 to 1976 and was named the Harry Edison Professor of Surgery that year. He also served as chief of surgery at the former Jewish Hospital from 1976 to 1987, becoming associate director of the hospital's surgery department the following year. In 1994, he became professor of radiology.

He currently is an emeritus surgeon at Barnes-Jewish Hospital. Dr. Philpott also has become increasingly active in recent years in Washington University's Alpha Omega Alpha Society and serves as a councillor for the society.
HONORARY DEGREES

JULIAN BOND
DOCTOR OF LAWS

Julian Bond is one of the nation's most respected civil rights leaders. Known for raising hard questions and proposing innovative solutions, Mr. Bond has been on the cutting edge of social change for 40 years as an activist who faced jail for his convictions, as a member of the Georgia General Assembly for more than 20 years, as a university professor and as a nationally known writer and lecturer.

Since 1998, Mr. Bond has been chairman of the board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the nation's oldest and largest civil rights organization. He also is a Distinguished Scholar in Residence at American University in Washington, D.C., and a professor of history at the University of Virginia.

Horace Julian Bond was born in Nashville, Tennessee. His father, the late Dr. Horace Mann Bond, was the first president of Fort Valley State College in Fort Valley, Georgia. In 1945, Dr. Bond became the first black president of the country's oldest black private college, Pennsylvania's Lincoln University. The Bond family lived at Lincoln until 1957, when Dr. Bond became dean of the School of Education at Atlanta University.

Julian graduated from the George School, a Quaker school in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in 1957, and entered Morehouse College in Atlanta that same year.

In 1960, while at Morehouse, he co-founded the Committee on Appeal for Human Rights, a student civil rights organization that directed three years of non-violent anti-segregation protests, winning integration of Atlanta's movie theaters, lunch counters and parks. Mr. Bond was arrested for organized sit-ins at the then-segregated Atlanta City Hall cafeteria.

He was one of several hundred students from across the South who helped form the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) on Easter weekend in 1960. As SNCC's communications director, he headed the organization's printing and publicity departments, edited the SNCC newsletter, and worked in voter registration drives in rural Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas.

While at Morehouse, Mr. Bond also won a varsity letter as a member of the swim team, helped found a literary magazine, The Pegasus, and was an intern for Time magazine. He left Morehouse one semester short of graduation in 1961 to join the staff of a new protest newspaper, The Atlanta Inquirer, later becoming the paper's managing editor. He returned to Morehouse in 1971, graduating with a bachelor of arts degree in English.

Elected in 1965 to the Georgia House of Representatives, Mr. Bond was prevented from taking his seat by members who objected to his opposition to the Vietnam War. He was re-elected to his own vacant seat and un-seated again, and seated only after a third election and a unanimous decision by the U.S. Supreme Court declaring the Georgia House had violated his rights.

Mr. Bond was co-chair of a challenge delegation from Georgia to the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago to protest the exclusionary practices of the Georgia delegation. The challenge delegation succeeded in unseating Georgia's Democrats, and Mr. Bond was nominated for vice president, but had to decline because of the age requirement.

After leaving Georgia's House of Representatives in 1975, he was elected to the Georgia Senate that year, where he became the first black to chair the Fulton County Delegation, the largest and most diverse in the upper house. During his legislative tenure, he sponsored or co-sponsored more than 60 bills that became law, including a pioneer sickle-cell anemia testing program and a state-wide program providing low-interest home loans to low-income Georgians. When he left office in January 1987, Mr. Bond had been elected to public office more times than any other black Georgian, living or dead.

The former host of "America's Black Forum," the oldest black-owned show in television syndication, Mr. Bond now appears regularly on the program as a commentator. He has narrated a number of documentaries, including the Academy Award-winning "A Time for Justice" and the prize-winning and critically acclaimed PBS series "Eyes on the Prize." He was author of a nationally syndicated newspaper column and his poems and articles have appeared in numerous publications, including The New York Times and The Nation. A collection of his essays has been published under the title "A Time to Speak; A Time to Act."

Mr. Bond was the first president of the Southern Poverty Law Center, which opened in 1971 as a small civil rights law firm in Montgomery, Alabama. Founded by Morris Dees and Joe Levin, two local lawyers who shared a commitment to racial equality, the center now is internationally known for its tolerance education program, its legal victories against white supremacist groups, its tracking of hate groups and its sponsorship of the Civil Rights Memorial. Mr. Bond continues his involvement in the center's work today as president emeritus.

The holder of 19 honorary degrees, Mr. Bond's other teaching experience includes serving as Papas Fellow at the University of Pennsylvania and as a visiting professor at Harvard University.
MICHAEL M. KARL
DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Michael M. Karl, M.D., has practiced medicine in St. Louis for more than 50 years. He joined the faculty of Washington University School of Medicine in 1940 and was named a professor in 1972.

After undergraduate work at the University of Wisconsin and a medical degree from the University of Louisville, Dr. Karl came to St. Louis for an internship and residency at St. Louis City Hospital. In the midst of that training, he also did a fellowship in cardiology at the School of Medicine. And he has been there in one capacity or another ever since, except for his years of military service in the South Pacific during World War II in the China/Burma/India theater.

A professor of clinical medicine, Dr. Karl went into private practice and started the West End's Maryland Medical Group in 1946, and he continued in that practice until 1987. But throughout those years, he maintained close ties to the School of Medicine, Barnes Hospital and the Jewish Hospital of St. Louis.

He was the first physician in St. Louis to do a needle biopsy of the liver, performing the procedure at Barnes Hospital in 1947. He personally performed another 3,100 biopsies over the years. He was the director of the Department of Medicine at Jewish Hospital in 1963 and 1964 and was elected to the School of Medicine's executive faculty in 1975 and again in 1985. In 1987, Dr. Karl became the director of clinical affairs for the Department of Medicine, a position he held until 1992.

Dr. Karl and his wife, Irene E. Karl, Ph.D., research professor of medicine, have been fixtures at the School of Medicine for more than 40 years. She was home with the couple's children, Bonnie and Terry, for their first several years in St. Louis, but she joined the faculty in 1959, when she became a research assistant in preventive medicine. In 1966, she became a research instructor in the Division of Endocrinology, Diabetes and Metabolism. She became a research professor of medicine in 1981.

The Karls were the first husband-and-wife team to have an endowed professorship established in their honor at the School of Medicine. The Irene E. and Michael M. Karl Professorship in Endocrinology and Metabolism was established in 1983 with gifts from patients and friends. In 1985, an annual lectureship was also established in their honor.

In addition to his clinical practice, Dr. Michael Karl served as confidant to several successive chairmen of the board at Barnes Hospital and, in the 1960s, he organized the racial integration of the hospital. In the 1950s and 60s, he also established a medical clinic for low-income people in an underserved area of St. Louis City and helped reorganize the nursing care in the city's hospitals and public clinics.

Later, his interests turned to caring for the elderly and, in 1978, he was one of 40 members of a national advisory committee appointed by President Jimmy Carter to the White House Conference on the Family. His contributions toward understanding the problems of the elderly earned him awards from the American Jewish Committee in 1981 and in 1985 from the National Conference on Christians and Jews (now known as the National Conference for Community and Justice).

Dr. Karl also was governor of the American College of Physicians for the State of Missouri from 1982-1987. He is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha and a member of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences. He is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a Master of the American College of Physicians and a Fellow of the Academy of Science in St. Louis. In 1990, he received the Ralph O. Claypoole Sr. Memorial Award for distinguished practice in internal medicine.

His other awards include the Distinguished Service Award from the Washington University Alumni Association and the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the University of Louisville School of Medicine. He also was the 1988 recipient of the Laureate Award from the American College of Physicians.

Both Drs. Karl have received the Albert Einstein Award from Technion University and the Barnes Hospital Distinguished Service Award.

YUAN-TSEH LEE
DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Yuan T. Lee, Ph.D., the 1986 Nobel Laureate in chemistry, began his academic career in his native Taiwan and continues it there today as president of Academia Sinica, the highest government-sponsored academic research institution in Taiwan, Republic of China. Dr. Lee also has made a lasting impact on American higher education at various prestigious institutions and he has made seminal, far-reaching advancements in chemical reaction dynamics.

Dr. Lee was born on November 19, 1936, in Hsinchu, Taiwan, to a father who was an accomplished artist and a mother who was a schoolteacher. His elementary schooling occurred under very difficult conditions. When the young Lee began school, Taiwan was a focus of Allied bombing in World War II. The city populations were relocated to the mountains to avoid the heavy Allied bombing. He was able to return to school as a third-year elementary student after the war, when Taiwan was returned to China.
In 1955, after an outstanding high school career, he was admitted into the National Taiwan University without being required to take the entrance examination, a practice universities there followed when admitting only the best students. He received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry in 1959. After receiving his master's degree in 1961 from National Tsinghua University in Taiwan, he pursued his doctoral thesis research at the University of California at Berkeley under the guidance of the late Bruce H. Mahan, Ph.D. In 1965, after receiving his doctorate, he began to conduct reactive scattering experiments in ion-molecule reactions as a post-doctoral fellow in Dr. Mahan's laboratory.

In 1967, Dr. Lee joined Dudley Herschbach, Ph.D., and his group at Harvard University as a research fellow. Herschbach was the leader in the field of crossed molecular beam technique, a technique in which beams of molecules are brought together at supersonic speeds under controlled conditions to allow detailed observation of the events that occur during chemical reactions. Dr. Lee spent half of his time at Harvard working on the reactions of hydrogen atoms and diatomic alkali molecules, and the other half of his time constructing a universal crossed molecular beam apparatus. At Harvard University, Dr. Lee extended Herschbach's technique to enable the study of larger and more complex molecules.

After being appointed assistant professor at the University of Chicago in 1968, he rapidly made his laboratory the North American capital of molecular beam study. His continual development as an innovative scientist, and his construction of a new generation, state-of-the-art crossed molecular beam apparatus allowed him to conduct many exciting, pioneering experiments with his students.

In 1974, Dr. Lee returned to Berkeley as a full professor. There, he significantly expanded his research to include, in addition to crossed molecular beams, studies of reaction dynamics, investigations of various primary photochemical processes, and the spectroscopy of ionic and molecular clusters.

In 1994, he retired from his position of University Professor and Principal Investigator for the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory at the University of California and assumed the position of president of Academia Sinica in Taiwan.

Dr. Lee has received numerous awards and honors, including the 1986 Nobel Prize in chemistry, the U.S. National Medal of Science and Faraday Medal from the Royal Chemical Society of Great Britain. He also received the U.S. Department of Energy's Ernest O. Lawrence Award, the Harrison Howe Award, and the American Chemical Society's Peter Debye Award of Physical Chemistry.

He is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a foreign member of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences, Gottingen Academy of Sciences, Indian Academy of Sciences, Korean Academy of Science and Technology, and a member of the Third World Academy of Sciences.

Among the 16 institutions that have awarded him honorary doctorates are the Chinese Academy of Sciences, the University of Rome, the University of Maryland, University of Waterloo, National Sun Yat-Sen University, National Chiao Tung University, Hong Kong University, the University of Louis Pasteur, and National Tsing-Hua University.

Dr. Lee and his wife, Bernice Wu, whom he first met in elementary school, have two sons, Ted and Sidney, and a daughter, Charlotte.

LEE MARVIN LIBERMAN
DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

Lee M. Liberman, chairman emeritus of Laclede Gas Co., is revered in St. Louis as a civic leader and a champion of community causes. He is a treasured member of the Washington University community as well — as a life trustee, as a former chairman and vice chairman of the Board of Trustees and, currently, as a student. He is a Ph.D. candidate in American literature and history in the Graduate School of Arts & Sciences and he received a master of liberal arts degree from University College in Arts & Sciences in 1994.

Mr. Liberman started his career at Laclede as an engineer after graduating from Yale University in 1943 with a degree in chemical engineering and serving two years with the U.S. Army Air Corps. He took what he thought would be a temporary job in Laclede’s downtown plant until he started law school at Stanford University. That was in 1945. In 1970, Liberman was elected president and chief operating officer of Laclede Gas Co., assumed additional duties as chief executive officer in 1974 and, in 1976, was elected chairman of the board.

Needless to say, he never did make it to Stanford Law School. But his enthusiasm for higher education continues unabated.

His present corporate directorships include CPI Corp., DT Industries Inc., Falcon Products and Furniture Brands International. He is a past director of Angelica Corp., Boatmen’s Bancshares Inc., Institutform Mid-America, Laclede Gas Co. and Paltem products.

Mr. Liberman has said that “it’s important to give something back,” and his life has reflected that conviction. He has served in countless ways to make St. Louis a better place.
Under his leadership, Laclede Gas provided extensive encouragement and support for children's welfare programs in St. Louis. He served as chairman of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association and worked tirelessly to establish the St. Louis Regional Medical Center to help provide health care for those without the means to pay for it.

Among his numerous community service activities, Mr. Liberman is co-chairman of Barnes-Jewish Hospital, vice chairman of the board of BJC Health System, chairman of the Area Resources for Community Health and Human Services, president-elect of Forest Park Forever, an honorary life director of the Municipal Opera Association and a member of the boards of the St. Louis Zoo Foundation and the St. Louis Symphony Society.

In addition to chairing the University's Board of Trustees from 1988 to 1993, he has chaired the St. Louis Symphony Society, Jewish Hospital of St. Louis, the St. Louis Regional Health Care Corp., the 1985 Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign, and the 1986 United Way Campaign of Greater St. Louis. He is a past president of Backstoppers and of Family and Children’s Service of St. Louis.

The community has honored Mr. Liberman in numerous ways. Chosen as the St. Louis Man of the Year in 1986 and the St. Louis Variety Club's Man of the Year in 1990, he also received the Regional Commerce and Growth Association's "Right Arm of St. Louis" award in 1991. In 1976, the St. Louis Area Chapter of the Boy Scouts of America conferred on him its Distinguished Eagle Award. The University of Missouri-St. Louis and Maryville University have both conferred honorary degrees upon him.

He received Washington University's William Greenleaf Eliot Society's Search Award in 1994 for his "special dedication to the wise management of the University's resources and his earnest advocacy of the University's important role in the life of the community."

A Washington University trustee since 1975, Mr. Liberman has served on many board committees. As chairman of the Development Committee since 1987, he has given extraordinary leadership to the University's fund-raising efforts. He is vice chairman of the capital resources division of the current $1 billion Campaign for Washington University. He was a key member of the Chancellor Search Committee in 1994 and 1995.

He chairs the School of Art's National Council and serves as well on the National Council for the School of Medicine.

Liberman and his wife, the former Ann Medler, live in Ladue. He has three children and two stepsons.

MARY MISS
DOCTOR OF FINE ARTS

Mary Miss is a world-renowned sculptor and installation artist who has been a leading figure in redefining the role of the artist in the public realm. Her often large-scaled projects combine cultural and historical insights with a sharp awareness of architectural and urban planning issues.

Since the mid-1960s, Ms. Miss has created dozens of projects that seek to promote a dialogue between public and private spaces as well as between natural and urban landscapes. She is interested in redefining the relationship between the built and natural environment. Acutely aware of the responsibilities that accompany any major environmental art work, Ms. Miss actively seeks community involvement while planning a work, and she encourages the public to interact with the final result.

"Ms. Miss does not so much build an object as cancel, indicate, enclose and obstruct space," wrote Avis Berman in ARTnews magazine. "Her intent is to devise 'situations, probing the emotional and psychological effects that spaces have on people.' Spectators become participants, walking around and through the installations, re-examining surroundings they had taken for granted."

Born in New York City in 1944, Ms. Miss received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of California at Santa Barbara in 1966 and a master of fine arts degree from the Maryland Art Institute's Rinehart School of Sculpture in 1968. That same year, she created her first public projects — a pair of installations in Colorado Springs, Colorado — and would continue to build outdoor works in New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Connecticut.

Since then, Ms. Miss has gone on to create works for public places and private institutions across the United States and Europe. These include projects for the South Cove at Battery Park City in New York, N.Y.; the Fogg Museum at Harvard University; the Architectural Association in London; the American Crafts Museum in New York; the Dallas Museum; the Allen Memorial Museum of Art in Oberlin, Ohio; University Hospital, Seattle; the Nassau County Museum, Roslyn, New York; and the XIII Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, New York.

Most recently, she created works for the Des Moines Art Center, Neuberger Museum, S.U.N.Y., Purchase, New York; the University of Houston; Rutgers University; and the city of Jyvaskyla, Finland. Current projects include renovating the 14th Street Union Square Subway Station in New York and developing a one-half-mile walk along the Milwaukee River in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, as well as a work for the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, New Jersey.
Ms. Miss also has made significant contributions to the St. Louis region. In 1985 she created a major piece — “Pool Complex: Orchard Valley” — for Laumeier Sculpture Park, incorporating built wooden structures with existing foundations, walkways and stone walls over a three-acre site. In 1986, she participated in the exhibition “On Site: Three St. Louis Sculptures” at the First Street Forum. Currently, she is developing a new project for the Thomas E Eagleton Federal Courthouse downtown.

Solo exhibitions of Ms. Miss’ work have been organized by the Des Moines Art Center (1996); Harvard University’s Graduate School of Art and Design (1990); the Architectural Association of London (1987); the Danforth Museum of Art in Framingham, Mass. (1986); the Institute of Contemporary Art in London (1983); the Museum of Modern Art, New York (1976), and many more.

Her work has been exhibited at such prestigious institutions as the Brooklyn Museum, the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum and the Whitney Museum of American Art, all in New York; at the Venice Biennial, Italy; and at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, the Los Angeles Institute of Contemporary Art and the La Jolla Museum of Contemporary Art, California.

Ms. Miss’ honors and awards include a John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Fellowship (1986); the Medal of Honor from the American Institute of Architects (1990); the Urban Design Award with Studioworks from Progressive Architecture magazine (1992); the Philip N. Winslow Landscape Design Award from the Parks Council, New York City (1992); and three separate grants from the National Endowment for the Arts (1974, 1975 and 1984).

In addition, she has been a board member of numerous arts organizations, and is currently a trustee of the American Academy in Rome and the Van Alen Institute. Recently, she was the Davenport Visiting Professor of Architecture at Yale University.

She and the painter George Peck live in New York City.

ALVIN JEROME SITEMAN
DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

Alvin J. Sitemap’s outstanding accomplishments as a dedicated civic leader, executive, banker and real estate developer are matched by his exceptional commitment to higher education, medical research and to the arts.

Mr. Siteman, who is known and respected for his expertise in many arenas, is chairman and president of both Site Oil Company of Missouri and Flash Oil Company and president and CEO of the Sitemap Organization, a major real estate developer and property manager. For 10 years, Mr. Siteman was chairman of the board of Mark Twain Bancshares Inc., and for two years served as chairman of Mercantile Bank of St. Louis after the two merged in 1997.

He has a keen interest in the arts and supports them generously. He is an honorary trustee and immediate past president of the Saint Louis Art Museum’s Board of Commissioners and an advisory board member of Laumeier Sculpture Park, which he helped found.

Through the Sitemap Organization, he innovatively developed buildings featuring unique outdoor Ernest Trova sculptures that have become Clayton landmarks. The organization, which developed and managed more than $150 million in office/apartment building properties in St. Louis, St. Louis County, Denver and Houston, pioneered real estate development in Clayton. Mr. Sitemap built the first high-rise office building in Clayton in 1961. He was named the Clayton Chamber of Commerce Business Person of the Year in 1991.

Currently he is chairman of the Barnes-Jewish Hospital Foundation and is a charter member of the hospital’s board of directors. He had been on the board of the Jewish Hospital of St. Louis for more than 15 years, and he is a past board member of the Jewish Federation of St. Louis.

Mr. Sitemap, who received a bachelor of science degree in management from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1948, also has been a major supporter of Washington University. He completed an active eight-year term on the Board of Trustees in May 1993, serving on the Executive Committee, chairing the Real Estate Committee and providing counsel on issues relating to the School of Art. He will become emeritus trustee, effective July 1, 2000.

Mr. Sitemap, and his wife, Ruth Levinsohn Sitemap, who received a bachelor’s degree from University College in Arts & Sciences in 1975, are life patrons of the University’s William Greenleaf Eliot Society and of the Olin School of Business. They have contributed generously to business, engineering, student scholarships (particularly for minority students), fine arts and medicine.

They recently committed $35 million to further the development of a major cancer center under the direction of the University’s School of Medicine and Barnes-Jewish Hospital, a member of BJC Health System. Their commitment includes their gift of $10 million to establish a cancer endowment fund and endowed chair in oncology at the hospital in 1997.

In recognition of the Sitemap’s gift, the institutions’ combined cancer programs are named The Alvin J. Sitemap Cancer Center. Mr. Sitemap is capital campaign co-chairman for the center. In 1993, the Sitemans also endowed a fund for cerebrovascular research in the School of Medicine’s Center for the Study of Nervous System Injury.
In 1985, they established an endowed professorship in the Olin School of Business — the Philip L. Siteman Professorship in Marketing — named in honor of Alvin Siteman's late father. Alvin succeeded his father, who founded Site Oil in 1930, as company president. The company operates 70 gas station-convenience stores in seven states. Philip Siteman received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from the University in 1918.

In 1994, Alvin Siteman received the Dean's Medal for exceptional dedication and service to the business school, and that same year he received the Robert S. Brookings Award at the University's Founders Day dinner for furthering the alliance between the University and its community.

The Sitemans have four daughters, Estelle, Nancy, Joanne and Suzanne, two of whom are University alumnae. Nancy received a bachelor of arts degree in English in 1976 and a master of education degree in 1993, both in Arts & Sciences, and Joanne received a bachelor of science degree from the School of Engineering and Applied Science in 1979.

ALMA MATER

Dear Alma Mater,
Thy name is sweet to me.
Our hearts are all for thee
Fair Washington.
Thy halls shall honored be
Throughout this great country
For all eternity, Our Washington.

Those days of youth which
All of us spent with thee
Form a dear history,
Fair Washington.
Could they renewed be,
We'd live our days with thee
For all eternity, Our Washington.
